Entry Description

This part is the update of the fourth in a series of four using the web process to produce a light weight ready made spoiler for the 2002 Expedition series S.U.V. for Ford. The quality of the finish for such a varied sized injection molded part gives it a unique look with a class A finish allowing for minimal post mold finishing.

Why is this Part Innovative?

This part shows the capabilities of the structural web process to mold large, varied wall thickness parts with excellent surface finish.
